Compare your ratings of importance with theirs. Use this guide to keep yourself on track with the kind of relationship that you feel is important. What was meaningful in your past relationships, note things that were not acceptable.

There are no right or wrong answers. Again, this is not meant to be a method of judging character, but to help you set your priorities. Stand by the 4's and 5's. They'll come back to haunt you later if you ignore them.

Happy hunting and remember, choose your weapons carefully!
